

Ford Attacks Jews, Why? Read a Little History. The Earth is Round. Race Hatred Out of Date.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright, 1920.)

Prejudice and race hatred are dying, but slowly.

Race hatred, resulting in murder, among ignorant peasants of Eastern Europe does not surprise you.

But when race hatred, taking a new lease of life, in the Far East, appears in a weekly newspaper owned by Henry Ford, one of the most useful citizens in this country, you are surprised.

What cunning instigation persuades Mr. Ford to deal with a subject he does not understand, to attack a race of whose achievements and history he is ignorant, and to use the great influence of his name and the slight influence of his newspaper harmfully?

Ford, presumably willing to learn, should study with open mind, as he studies gas engines and transportation, the history of the Jewish people. A book simply written is offered to his attention, "Jewish Contributions to Civilization," written by Joseph Jacobs, published in Philadelphia by the Jewish Publication Society of America.

Jews are disliked, because they have been successful. In lines that have been open to them, not closed by hatred and prejudice, they have been conquerors.

World conquerors have never been liked by those that studied their excellence. From the Phoenicians of old, a semitic people that led the world in daring, to Yankee and Japanese conquerors of today, there has been no love wasted on winners by those whom they overcome.

Romans, Normans, Spaniards, Englishmen, Prussians, Goths, Mongols in their days of conquest were never popular.

The Jew's conquest in his own field has run through centuries, beginning more than two thousand years before our era, and running up to this day. Every other successful name that you see in a great city is a Jewish name.

Jews, numbering less than one per cent of the earth's population, possess by conquest, enterprise, industry and intelligence fifty per cent of the world's commercial success. They are disliked by those that seek excuse for failure.

This does not apply to Henry Ford, who could buy, with perhaps two or three exceptions, the richest Jew in the world once every year and have plenty left.

Those that misrepresents Henry Ford's real character and the historical facts in Mr. Ford's weekly newspaper are repeating what they have heard, not what they know or believe.

Mr. Ford should remember how he himself has been ignorantly or maliciously attacked and hindered. As an antidote to prejudice and lies handed down through centuries, there are here offered to Ford and others a few facts:

You are told that Jews reap the harvest of those that dare; that they do not take risk on their own account.

What about the Phoenicians? They were the first to open the tin mines of England, the first daring explorers in many lands.

They were first to NAVIGATE OUT OF SIGHT OF LAND, traveling at night by the stars; they had no compass, risking shipwrecks in fog or cloudy weather.

Does that show lack of enterprise or physical courage? Men ask: "What have Jews contributed to the intellect of the world?"

Three books have influenced the human mind above others—Homer, Aeschylus, and the Bible.

The Jews wrote the Bible and gave Christianity to the world. The Mother of Christ was a Jewess, especially chosen, undoubtedly, for nobility of character and purity of soul.

That fact alone should make "Christians" hesitate to condemn Jews indiscriminately.

The intellect of man owes much to the writing of Jews, who possess the art of condensing thought. Here are a few sayings that Henry Ford and others use often, not suspecting that they are quoting the Jewish mind:

"A tale that is told."

"A land flowing with milk and honey."

"The wife of my bosom."

"The apple of my eye."

"Vanity of vanities."

"Heaping coals of fire."

"Weighed in the balance and found wanting."

"Put not thy trust in princes."

"Go to the ant thou sluggard."

"Righteousness exalteth a nation."

"A soft answer turneth away wrath."

"Love is strong as death."

Is there a lack of mental concentration in those sayings that might be stretched out to fill every column of this newspaper?

Whether Jews originated Monism, belief in one God, or borrowed the idea from Babylonians that borrowed it from others, we don't know. But we know that we got THAT IDEA from the Jews, and we should be grateful to them.

Renan thought the Jews got their idea of one God while wandering in the desert, flat, appearing (Continued on Page 19, Col. 2)

WILSON "SET" FOR CAMPAIGN

Calls in Photographer to Show Public He is Rounding Into Oldtime Form.

CLOSETED WITH INTIMATES

Senator Glass Given Last-Minute Advice As to Conduct of Campaign.

More proof that President Wilson is preparing to take a most active part in the coming campaign developed yesterday, when he posed for about a half hour in his study for a commercial photographer. It is assumed that the photographs will be used to disabuse the public mind of any doubts about the Chief Executive's physical appearance, as there has been plenty of evidence lately that he is rounding into oldtime form.

It became known today that plans for a trip to a cooler climate than the Capital are under consideration, as it is believed it would be folly for the President to remain here during the hot weather. It is understood that the physicians are practically agreed on this subject, one of the factors in their belief being that the President should have a change of environment—some diversion.

NEW YORK SITES FAVORED.

Two spots in New York State are known to be under consideration as suitable for the purpose of the President, but no thorough investigation has yet been undertaken. One section understood to have the favorable attention of those concerned is contiguous to Saratoga, the locality having been highly recommended from several viewpoints. The desirability of being within easy access to the Mayflower is one fact that will figure in the final decision on a summer home, although it was said this is not altogether essential.

It is practically certain that the President will remain in Washington until after the close of the San Francisco convention, as arrangements have been made for all facilities to leave the White House in closest touch with the convention hall at all times. (Continued on Page 3, Column 1.)

GREEKS AID BRITISH IN FIGHTING TURKS

Strong Force Sent Against Troops Which Attacked American School at Ismid.

LONDON, June 20.—A strong force of Greeks will be sent to aid British forces at Ismid, where Turkish troops attacked an American school and murdered civilians. Decision to allow the Greeks to join the British followed a cabinet meeting at which Premier Venizelos' offer of aid was considered. Several British warships are bombarding the Turkish Nationalist forces, who are under command of Mustafa Kemal Pasha.

The situation in the Adriatic caused deep concern today. Italy has been asked by Greece for permission to allow her troops to advance in the south to aid the Italian forces at Valona, where strong Albanian forces have been threatening the city's food supply by sea and land.

The Albanian situation was believed to be the most serious now facing the supreme command. Belief was expressed that something must happen soon, as the Greeks are determined to occupy Koritza. It was also determined to protect the integrity of Albania.

The Albanian sent strong re-enforcement to Valona. An Italian hydroplane fell within the Albanian lines and the aviator was taken prisoner.

Hairpins Only Clues In Death of War Hero

NEW YORK, June 20.—Investigation of the mysterious death of Henry Humphreys Parson, Yale graduate and lawyer connected with Elihu Root's firm, did not lag today, despite the decision of Coroner Stella of Westchester county, that the young clubman had committed suicide. The finding of two hairpins in his automobile gave impetus to a search for a young woman who spent several hours with Parson early on the morning of his death.

It is believed by the police that this woman would solve the injuries suffered by Parson prior to his return to a friend's Long Island summer home. Parsons entered the house bleeding from cuts and wounds about the face. He was found shot through the head in a bath tub, filled with water an hour later.

Authorities are asking questions rather than giving information regarding the apparent suicide of Parsons. Investigators are trying to deter-

M'ADOO REFUSAL TO RUN GIVEN EMPHASIS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—Added emphasis to William Gibbs McAdoo's refusal to permit his name to go before the Democratic convention as a Presidential nominee is contained in a telegram received from the former Secretary of the Treasury by Ray Baker, director of the mint, who has been active in the campaign here for McAdoo. The telegram, sent from New York, said: "You will not like the statement from me which will appear in Saturday morning papers, but I hope you will yield to my judgment in this matter, as I know that I am right."

"WILLIAM GIBBS McADOO."

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—Somewhat perturbed, but still undaunted, the supporters of William G. McAdoo for the Democratic nomination are going ahead with their efforts in his behalf in San Francisco.

At first blush, friends of the former Secretary of the Treasury who are early on to "give up the ship" as a result of the "Shouse telegram." Then they examined it more closely and saw that Mr. McAdoo did not say he would not take the nomination if it were proffered him and they took heart.

His friends here do not doubt the sincerity of his statement that he does not want the nomination. He has assured some of them personally that he does not, but knowing that no man in the history of the Republic has turned down such an honor and confident that no man ever will, they have decided to go blithely ahead and trust to luck.

SAYS HE'LL ACCEPT.

One of Mr. McAdoo's staunchest supporters and ardent workers here is Mrs. Antoinette Funk, former head of the woman's Liberty loan committee. "Mr. McAdoo's telegram," she said today, "does not change the situation at all. I believe that if this convention offers the nomination to Mr. McAdoo he will accept it."

Her statement was echoed generally by other McAdoo supporters here. Yesterday's statement from Dr. Burris Jenkins at Kansas City that he will present the name of Mr. McAdoo to the convention, regardless of the Shouse telegram, had a heartening effect upon the McAdoo boomers here.

They were further heartened by reports that Daniel C. Roper, former internal revenue commissioner and acknowledged manager of the McAdoo movement, will arrive in San Francisco early this week. Roper is not a delegate to the convention and his coming to San Francisco, it was pointed out, can be but for one purpose.

TALKING OVER PLATFORM.

The Senator has discussed many phases of the platform already with his callers. He talked with Senators Lodge, Brandegee, and Fall on foreign and Mexican relations; with Senator Wesley J. Jones of Washington and Congressman Addison T. Smith of Idaho, on reclamation and other problems; with Senator Smoot of Utah, and many others on financial and business questions.

He conferred yesterday with Samuel Adams of Virginia; Edwin A. Smith of Seattle, Wash.; and J. W. Jarnagin, of Iowa, editors of farm publications. Problems and opportunities for American agriculture were discussed from a national standpoint.

WON'T GIVE UP THE SHIP

Feel Sure Ex-Secretary Will Accept if Convention Insists.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—Somewhat perturbed, but still undaunted, the supporters of William G. McAdoo for the Democratic nomination are going ahead with their efforts in his behalf in San Francisco.

STORM BREWS AT CONVENTION

Bryan Expected to Prolong Sessions With League and Dry Issues.

MAY LAST OVER A WEEK

Nebraskan Not Likely to Be Disposed of Easily, Politicians Say.

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS, (International News Service.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 20.—Despite the fact that the Democratic national officials now on the job are flying fair-weather signals, there is already talk of a stormy convention, lasting over a week.

William Jennings Bryan is the man expected to cause the delay. Bryan will bring to San Francisco at least two messages of fish to fry in open convention. One is the ratification of the League of Nations on the best-terms platform, the other is the strict enforcement of prohibition.

In his fight for the league as amended by the Lodge reservations, the committee's battle will be directed against the Administration.

On the "wet" or dry issue he will have to go up against Gov. Edward I. Edwards, of New Jersey, and such "wets" as may rally to Edwards' support. The strength of these is variously estimated.

WON'T BE KILLED OFF.

Few here believe Bryan will be killed off in committee as was Senator Hiram Johnson in Chicago. There the Senator was given pretty much what he asked for in the way of a platform, then was brushed aside. Here, as a member of the Nebraska delegation to the Democratic convention, Bryan will sit in the hall, and unless placated, as practically no one thinks he will be, will carry his fight to the floor, prolonging the row indefinitely.

Bryan, it is known, intends to precipitate a fight, against the leadership of President Wilson, called by whatever other name one pleases. The President insists that the League of Nations without nullifying reservations must be the issue on which the Democratic party base its campaign for the retention of power.

The Nebraska plans to take the League out of the campaign as its paramount issue, if such thing is possible.

The President will be in close touch with every phase of the fight here, so close that the Administration forces, or the "regular" Democrats, will be at all times under his leadership. No important step will be taken without his knowledge and consent. This much is known.

WILL LEAD FIGHT PERSONALLY.

Bryan, on the other hand, will lead his faction in person, and while Administration Democrats here declare Bryan will not get very far with his opposition, it is admitted that as a tooter of monkey wrenches into a delicately adjusted machinery, his success may be more marked.

The Democratic National Committee is scheduled to meet here next Friday to dispose of routine business necessary before the convention opens on Monday, June 28. The most important matter to be disposed of is the contest between Bryan and the delegation from Georgia. In case of re-election by the Kansas City District Convention to a place in the Missouri delegation, the status of Senator James A. Reed, repudiated at his State convention for his opposition to the President in the treaty fight, will likewise have to be decided.

The Georgia fight will be between the delegation instructed for Attorney General Palmer, who went to Georgia as a straight Administration man, and the Senator Hoke Smith-Tom Watson delegation, which is opposed to the Administration. A Palmer victory is predicted.

England to use every resource against Erin.

LONDON, June 20.—The situation created in the British Isles by Ireland's demand for absolute political independence has been likened by Premier Lloyd George to the situation in the United States at the time of the civil war.

"President Lincoln faced millions of casualties and five years of war rather than acknowledge the independence of the confederacy, and the British government will do the same thing, if necessary," said the Premier. "The government will never agree to a high republic unless it is beaten to the ground."

Premier Lloyd George's declaration was made in a communication to the national union railway men. It was an answer to an appeal made to the government in behalf of the Sinn Fein railroad strikers in Ireland.

DEPORT 45 ALIENS.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Forty-five aliens classed as undesirable today headed homeward following the deportation by the Federal authorities. Half a dozen women were included. Twenty-five of the deportees were radicals. The others were defective.

Woman Who Gave Up Astor Wealth to Wed Another, Goes to Reno

RENO, Nev., June 20.—Mrs. Madeline Force Astor Dick, who relinquished a $5,000,000 trust fund left by her first husband, Colonel John Jacob Astor, who was drowned in the Titanic disaster, through her marriage to William K. Dick, took up a residence here by leasing a house yesterday.

She did not disclose her purpose in selecting this as her place of residence. Mrs. Dick has two children. The first, John Astor, was born four months after Colonel Astor died. Her other son was born in May, 1919, about three years after she and Mr. Dick were married at Bar Harbor.

Princess, Daughter of Capital Woman, Heard Shot That Killed Lover

By C. F. BERTELLI, Universal Service.

PARIS, June 20.—Princess Francesca Respighi, seated on her bed in a room at the Ritz, telephone in hand, at 3 o'clock on the morning of May 26, heard the shot with which her despairing, rejected lover, Alfredo Allegretti, an Italian aviator, ended his life in a room at the adjoining hotel.

Princess Francesca's mother before her marriage was Miss Marie Respighi, a Parisian, who married Col. F. H. Parkhurst.

This revelation was made today by the Ritz porter at the Ritz, in the course of the investigation into the death of the princess a week later.

"I was dozing over the switchboard," said Pierre, "when suddenly there was a call. An excited man's voice demanded to speak to the princess on an extremely urgent matter."

"Convinced that it was an important call, I rang the princess, who was asleep in her room on the third floor. Listening in a few moments to be sure that communication was established, I heard the man say: 'This is Alfredo. I just called to tell you I'm going to shoot myself.' The princess let out a piercing cry; then said: 'Stop! Don't be a fool!'

The only answer was a shot, which was plainly heard over the wire. The

WOMAN HOLDS MYSTERY KEY

Maidenly Reserve Prevents Her Telling of Relations With "Whist King."

THREE UNDER SUSPICION

"Miss Wilson," Her Husband, and Male Friend of Slain Man Being Watched.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Today's developments brought nearer to solution the mysterious murder of Joseph Bowne Elwell, prominent turfman, bridge expert, society gamester, and international sportsman, found dying more than a week ago in his West Side home with a 45 bullet hole in his head.

Edwin Rhodes, Elwell's chauffeur, revealed today that the husband of a woman Elwell met at Palm Beach several weeks ago, had threatened the murdered man in a quarrel over Elwell's attentions to his wife.

Rhodes declared Elwell told this woman, in the presence of several Palm Beach garage employees, that he wanted nothing more to do with her. Her husband learned the following day of her relations with the turfman and accused Elwell, threatening to kill him if he did not leave her alone, Rhodes said.

WOMAN'S NAME AT STAKE

The arrest today or tomorrow of one of the persons who had the "strongest possible motive" to kill Elwell will depend, it was revealed today by District Attorney Swann, upon the willingness of a beautiful young woman residing in a Pennsylvania town to shatter an alibi provided by the person under suspicion.

To do this, Judge Swann intimated, she may have to brush aside maidenly reserve and testify to gay events of a recent evening when she quietly left her home, came to New York, and here embarked upon an escapade which, unless the ends of justice were at stake, she certainly would not wish known.

District Attorney Swann declined to reveal the girl's name or even that of the town in which she lives. He stated, however, that detective had gone to interview her and that within a short time he will know whether she is willing to tear to shreds the alibi which is the only present obstacle to an arrest.

FRIEND OF "MISS WILSON."

The Pennsylvania girl knows the identity of "Miss Wilson," the mysterious and beautiful brunette whose association with Elwell has deeply interested the detectives, it was said. "William Barker, the detective, had two men and one woman—who had the strongest possible motive to kill Elwell," said District Attorney Swann today. "There may have been more, but at present we are concentrating on these three."

"The three are: A woman who was Elwell's closest friend for a considerable period—a woman who was acquainted with Elwell's wife, and who was the husband of 'Miss Wilson,' somewhat of a gay dog himself, but who insists he was absolutely ignorant of his wife's close association with her forty-seven-year-old charmer; and, third, a man who has posed as a great friend of Elwell, but who, we have been told, quarreled bitterly with him a short while ago."

CURSES FOR ELWELL.

"This man applied almost unmentionable epithets to Elwell, and threatened to 'mop up' the ground with him. He knew the lay of the land at the Seventieth street house, and could have left his home in a nearby city, come to New York, and done his enemy to death."

"I shall have a long talk with 'Miss Wilson.' If she remains evasive and continues her policy of blocking our inquiry, it may be necessary to bring her before the grand jury and make her testify under oath. We are determined to draw the truth from her."

William Barker, secretary-in-chief to Elwell, admitted yesterday during a long examination by Assistant District Attorney Talley that Elwell had a number of "bitter enemies." Barker denied he had a key to the house.

LABOR WILL AID D. C. SUFFRAGE FIGHT

MONTREAL, June 20.—Before adjourning last night the convention of the American Federation of Labor pledged its aid to residents of the District of Columbia in their effort to obtain suffrage.

A resolution declaring the non-voting status of inhabitants of the District "deplorable and un-American" was adopted.
